

WeatherTech Raceway Laguna Seca Prize Announcement

From Pawleys Island, SC. June 12th, 2019

The Pacific F2000 championship series sponsored by Primus Racing Parts proudly announces that QuarterMaster USA will support the next round of the championship at Laguna Seca Raceway July 25-26th. Primus Racing parts has a special relationship with Quartermaster Clutches and we are proud to sell their products. The Southernformulacar.com championship just completed the 2nd annual Quartermaster Classic event this past April at Roebing Road Raceway. We are proud to take the same event to the successful West Coast F2000 series which will be titled the Pacific Quartermaster Classic.

Quartermaster and Primusracingparts.com will supply a lucrative prize fund which will pay to the top six positions of an aggregate points total from the double race weekend. The event is run in conjunction with the popular SCCA Super tour series at Laguna Seca Raceway in beautiful Monterey, California. We hope that the combination of the extra sponsorship and the Quartermaster alliance for this event will bring out one of the largest fields of the season as we see each year for the Southeast Quartermaster Classic. All of the regular competitors in the series will be running along with many other potential participants for the chance to win one of the 6 prizes given including 3 brand new Quartermaster racing Clutches which most of the competitors use on their cars.

We really encourage everyone to make it out to Laguna for this exciting event. There is a good chance that some of the past competitors will dust of their cars to come mix it up with the current series regulars for a chance to win some nice prizes and also boost their egos by winning what has become a prestigious event on the East Coast. One of the regular drivers of the Pacific Series Scott Vreeland will be the only driver in the field to compete in both the East and West Quartermaster Classic events as he made the trip to Savannah, Georgia back in April and had a very respectable front row qualification in the 2nd race of the weekend but tangled with another car at the beginning of the race to take away his chances for the win. I know Scott will be pushing very hard for redemption to take home one of these prizes.

You can also bet that Series powerhouses DFR and Tom Hope Racing and the many private teams will be giving it all they have to grab one of the top spots in the weekends festivities. Peter West runs a great series on the west coast so let's all try and support all of his efforts and make the trip to attend this race. Primusracingparts.com will also consider adding extra prizes if we can attract 5 or more pinto powered cars for this weekend. So everyone spread the word and help make this a really good event and come join the fun at Laguna Seca Raceway for the first Annual Pacific Quartermaster Classic.
